

AI Street Interview Script – NBA 2023–24 Season

Interviewer: Hi there! We're asking basketball fans about the 2023–24 NBA season. Can I get your quick thoughts?

Respondent: Sure, let's do it.

Interviewer: Who do you think was the top scorer this season?

Respondent: That would be Luka Dončić. He scored over 2,300 points, more than anyone else.

Interviewer: And who impressed you most with shooting efficiency?

Respondent: Daniel Gafford. His field goal percentage was nearly 78%, which is incredibly efficient.

Interviewer: What about all-around contribution — points, rebounds, and assists combined?

Respondent: Again, Luka Dončić. He averaged around 53 combined stats per game, showing how complete his game is.

Interviewer: Triple-doubles are always fun. Who led the league there?

Respondent: Domantas Sabonis. He recorded 26 triple-doubles — that's nearly one every three games!

Interviewer: If we remove the top five scorers, who steps up as the new leader?

Respondent: That would be Anthony Edwards, with just over 2,000 points.

Interviewer: As a coach, if you had to build your team around one player, who would it be?

Respondent: Without a doubt, Luka Dončić. He's elite in scoring, playmaking, and rebounding. A true franchise player.

Interviewer: Thanks for your time! That was a great breakdown of the season.

Respondent: My pleasure — always happy to talk hoops.